Happy National Underwear Day.....

Although I haven't seen many underwear on the streets of NYC today, the National Underwear Day was celebrated with lots of champagne and oh well... hottest underwear models on earth.

Freshpair.com's Underwear Runway Show and Party, hosted by "It" girl Lydia Hearst gave a stage to anyone from Diesel, 2(x)ist, Natori, Sean John, Tommy Hilfiger, Nautica, basket, and many more.

After first few moments of excitement by seeing perfectly tanned and "packaged" models on the runway, Bon Vivant and myself tried to concentrate on the garments, but couldn't see anything other than half-naked men (and women) walking. Yes, we do have a tough job!

And we weren't the only ones who came for the eye candy. Fabulous boys like Richie Rich, Robert Verdi, Philip Bloch, Suede (from this season's "Project Runway") and Tyson Beckford all seemed enjoying the show, as well as each other's company.

Another fabulous summer night...
